

Let's Build a Climate-Resilient Singapore

Singapore is fortunate to have NEWater and desalinated water that are not dependent on rainfall. We must however be more careful about using water, especially during a dry spell, so that there will be enough for everyone.